

Letter of recommendation for Trish Stevens and the Ascot Media Group

Dealing with media is not unlike walking through a large and very old house with darkened hallways and many locked doors. There are obviously actions occurring behind the closed doors but to the outsider these sacred doors can be impenetrable as bank vaults.

With Trish Stevens and the team at Ascot Media, the old scary house suddenly becomes an open house with everyone that was so untouchable and locked behind blocked barriers suddenly becoming accessible and approachable.

There can be no doubt that Trish Stevens and her team are true shining stars in the publicist field and relentlessly rely on techniques that most other firms consider too much work. The Ascot Media Group is unstoppable in their conquests for their client's goals and show kind attention and patience when guiding newcomers through the mysteries of the media world.

I cannot recommend strongly enough Trish Stevens and the Ascot Media team.

Tom Williams: Scripts columnist, feature article writer, and author of "Lost and Found"